Thanks Tom. This version has both your changes and Chris' reflected, so is the one to pass along if need be.

Thanks. I'm trying to avoid creating any more versions. Here are a handful of additional comments about OA:

Thanks Jill,

These look great to me – while we are waiting for Jim C's response, I found a couple of small edits in Attachment 2 that we had discussed not reflected.

Here are the revised docs. I've attached all of them so you have them if you need to pass them along. A couple things to note:

- I changed all of the "theirs" to "its" as we discussed. However, several of the commenters used "their" so I left it that way in their comments, since we were quoting their comments verbatim.
- I checked and ODEQ just finalized their revised listing methodologies for the next cycle on December 4, which includes the methodology and implementation guidance for the copper BLM, so I changed the language accordingly. You might double check that in the response to comments. Since I'm attaching these while working remotely, let me know if you have any trouble opening them or trying to share them, and I can send another version. Thanks for all your help.

Thanks.
